FAQ

If you try to create a new sequence in Premiere Pro and find that some of the presets are not in the settings list, you've probably encountered some variation of Premiere Pro's 'Revert to trial' bug.. You should be able to open that pull down and there should be something there to re-activate.

I admit, this is a very old thread - but since I just dealt with this problem, I think it is still relevant to tell what solved my problem: On a mac you have to delete the preference file: users>Hard drive>Library>Preferences>com.. Jan 03, 2014 I've recently installed Premiere Pro CC and there are loads of presets missing on the new sequences dialogue box.. Try about and see if it has your serial number listed The problem is i think when you re-activate you will need to go through the internet activation or I think you can use phone activation if you are using a offline production workstation I have had to do it before and I remember doing it through after effects for the entire Production Suite, not sure if this is the same for master.. Adobe Premiere Pro 4.0 plist A little later, the same occurred with After Effects.. It suddenly couldn't read any HDV file (mpeg, m2v, large photoshop files) Deleted a similar preference file, and everything is back to normal: users>Hard Drive>Library>Preferences>com.. But if you go to after effects and go to the last topic on top; maybe it is 'help' or about the last one across the top.. Aftereffects plist Actually, for AE, there were different preference files, I deleted them all. 773a7aa168 Counter Strike 1.6 For Mac El Capitan
